Kenya pre-2007 intercommunal violence

Kenya's northern and western border regions have been sites of instability and intercommunal violence exacerbated by the inflow of large amounts of illegal weapons, primarily small arms and light weapons. These instances of intense armed violence have been linked to cattle-raiding, banditry, conflict over pasture, and have affected areas in the northeast, such as Marsabit and Wajir, parts of the North Rift, and the length of the border with Uganda.

Local agreement properties

Process type	Formal structured process
Rationale	This civic dialogue built on existing structure of holding District Peace Committee since 1999 (although these were disbanded and reconstituted at various times). The joint meeting was organized by the Government of Kenya through the Ministry of State for Provincial Administration and Internal Security. It was co-ordinated and facilitated by the National Steering Committee on Peacebuilding and Conflict Management (NSC). It was cofunded by United Nations Development Programme (UNDP) through the Conflict Prevention and Transformation Project (CTP) and MS Kenya.
Is there a documented link to a national peace process?	No
Link to national process: articulated rationale	There is no reference to a national peace process in the text, as the process was convened to address localised natural resource conflicts in Marsabit and Moyale.
