First, the Commission shall contribute to the elucidation of what has happened, in accordance with the elements of the mandate described here below, and to offer a broad explanation about the complexity of the conflict, so as to promote a shared understanding among the society, in particular about the least known aspects of the conflict. In this sense, we welcome the visit and the pronouncement made during this cycle by Zainab Bangura, Special Representative of the Secretary General of the United Nations on Sexual Violence in Conflicts, and we undertake to attend to her recommendations.
Page 1-2, Purposes of the Commission:
And third, the Commission shall promote coexistence in the territories. For that purpose, it will foster an environment of dialogue and will create spaces for restoring the dignity of the victims, for individual and collective acknowledgments of responsibility, and, in general, to consolidate citizen respect for and trust in each other, cooperation and solidarity, social justice, gender equity, and a democratic culture that fosters tolerance and rids us from indifference toward the problems of others. In this manner, the foundations will be set for non-repetition, reconciliation, and the construction of a stable and long lasting peace. For those reasons, it is necessary to understand the construction of truth as an essential element for building peace. The success of the Commission will depend on the commitment of all sectors of society with the process for the construction of truth, and on the recognition of responsibilities by those who directly or indirectly took part in the conflict. That is why both the National Government and the FARC – EP commit to decisively contribute toward the elucidation of the truth about everything that has happened in the conflict, including serious human rights violations and infringements upon International Humanitarian Law (IHL).

Page 4, Commission for the Elucidation of Truth, Coexistence, and Non-Repetition, Duties
In order to fulfil its mandate, the Commission shall have the following main duties:
Research about all of the mandate’s elements using the necessary information gathering and analysis methodologies and forms for that purpose, considering practices generally accepted by the social sciences, including a gender approach, and taking into account previous truth-building efforts, including as basic inputs, among others, the reports of the Historical Commission of the Conflict and its Victims.

In order to fulfil its mandate, the Commission shall have the following main duties:
Ensure the cross-cutting nature of the gender approach throughout the entire scope of the work of the Commission, by creating a gender task force in charge of contributing with the tasks for preparing specific technical, research, and gender audiences, among others. This task force will not be the only one addressing the topic, but it should bear the responsibility for reviewing the methodologies in order to ensure that all the Commission’s instruments include a gender approach, and for coordination purposes with women’s and LGBTI organizations. The foregoing, without prejudice to the necessary autonomy of the Commission in determining its structure and working methodology.
Page 6, Commission for the Elucidation of Truth, Coexistence, and Non-Repetition, Selection process

The selection will be solely based on the nominations and the election will take into account individual selection criteria such as ethical suitability, independence, commitment to human rights and justice, absence of conflicts of interest, and knowledge about the armed conflict, International Humanitarian Law and human rights, and a recognized background in any of these fields. The selection of the commissioners shall also take collective criteria into account, such as gender equity, pluralism, interdisciplinary nature and regional representation.

Page 7, Follow-up and monitoring committee on the implementation of the Commission’s recommendations

The committee will submit periodic reports on the follow-up of the recommendations. These reports shall feature a territorial, differential and gender approach. The committee will adopt the necessary measures to broadly disseminate its reports in the national and regional media. The Government will guarantee the committee’s funding for the fulfilment of its duties.

Page 8, Participation of the victims and society in relation to Item

Among the victimizing facts represented, testimonies were heard about forced displacement, homicide, tortured, enforced disappearance, kidnapping, sexual violence, extrajudicial executions and forced recruitment of minors, among others.

Furthermore, between July and August, 2014, 3 regional forums were organized (in Villavicencio, Barrancabermeja and Barranquilla), and one National Forum in Cali on Item 5. A total of 3,162 individuals participated, out of which 51.7% were men and 48.3% were women. More than 600 victims’ organizations attended these forums.

In order to fulfill its mandate, the Commission shall have the following main duties:

- Create spaces at the national, regional and territorial levels, particularly thematic, territorial and institutional audiences, and of emblematic organizations and cases, among others, in order to listen to the different voices, in first place those of the victims, both individual and collective, and promote the participation of the different sectors of society to contribute to a joint reflection about the events and the causes and effects of the serious violence lived by Colombia.
- Those spaces may include public discussion and reflection scenarios or cultural ceremonies, enabling those who have directly or indirectly participated in the conflict to engage in acts of recognition and responsibility and ask for forgiveness, in its various dimensions, both for the damages and suffering caused to the people, as well as for the political and social impact of their actions; and consequently, to offer explanations about the actions carried out, contribute to the reparation, and assume non-repetition and peace-building commitments, among others. This shall contribute to learn the truth and to promote peaceful coexistence in the territories.

Page 5-6, Selection process,

Ensure the cross-cutting nature of the gender approach throughout the entire scope of the work of the Commission, by creating a gender task force in charge of contributing with the tasks for preparing specific technical, research, and gender audiences, among others. This task force will not be the only one addressing the topic, but it should bear the responsibility for reviewing the methodologies in order to ensure that all the Commission’s instruments include a gender approach, and for coordination purposes with women’s and LGBTI organizations. The foregoing, without prejudice to the necessary autonomy of the Commission in determining its structure and working methodology.

Page 6, Commitment to contribute toward elucidation,

The Government will adopt all necessary measures to guarantee the contribution of other State entities and will foster third party participation in the Commission, so as to contribute toward the elucidation and the recognition of responsibilities, as part of the necessary guarantees for non-repetition.

Page 7, Follow-up and monitoring committee on the implementation of the Commission’s recommendations,

A follow-up and monitoring committee on the implementation of the Commission’s recommendations will be created, whose operations will start once the final report has been published. For the fulfillment of its task, dialogues will be facilitated with different victims and human rights’ entities and organizations, among others. The members of this committee will be representatives from different sectors of society, including victims and human rights organizations, among others. The Commission will establish the time period during which the committee will operate. The committee will submit periodic reports on the follow-up of the recommendations. These reports shall feature a territorial, differential and gender approach. The committee will adopt the necessary measures to broadly disseminate its reports in the national and regional media. The Government will guarantee the committee’s funding for the fulfillment of its duties.

Within the 10 principles for the discussion of Item 5 – “Victims”, agreed at the Table, “victim participation” plays a major role. We are convinced that peace-building demands an active participation of the victims, and in general of the communities in the territories, which are ultimately those who will benefit from the transformations sought by the agreements we have reached.

A fundamental purpose of the Table has been to achieve the highest possible participation and to receive the maximum number of proposals related to the discussion of Item 5. The progress in the agreement on Item 5 that we are presenting today has been based precisely on listening to the victims who came directly to the Table and on reading the proposals of thousands of people who have sent them to us through the different participation mechanisms.

In the first place, and for the first time within the framework of a peace process, the Dialogue Table directly listened to and received the proposals of a group of victims of the conflict. The selection process of these victims was carried out by the UN and the National University, accompanied by the Episcopal Conference; guided by the principles of pluralism, balance and fairness, they sought to reflect the entire universe of human rights violations and infringements on IHL that have taken place in the conflict, taking into account the different social sectors and populations, and the territorial approach. The delegations were comprised by 12 victims and the Table heard one delegation per cycle, during cycles 27, 28, 29, 30 and 31 of the dialogues.

Among the victimizing facts represented, testimonies were heard about forced displacement, homicide, tortured, enforced disappearance, kidnapping, sexual violence, extrajudicial executions and forced recruitment of minors, among others. All the victims who visited Havana to state their testimonies, their proposals and their expectations regarding the peace process and the implementation of the agreements before the two delegations at the Dialogue Table, concurred in highlighting the need to bring the conflict to an end.

Furthermore, between July and August, 2014, 3 regional forums were organized (in Villavicencio, Barrancabermeja and Barranquilla), and one National Forum in Cali on Item 5. A total of 3,162 individuals participated, out of which 51.7% were men and 48.3% were women. More than 600 victims’ organizations attended these forums.

Finally, to date we have received 24,324 contributions on the item of victims, with more than 59,000 references to the different aspects of this Item, including over 8,600 regarding the topic of “truth”.

Within the 10 principles for the discussion of Item 5 – “Victims”, agreed at the Table, “victim participation” plays a major role. We are convinced that peace-building demands an active participation of the victims, and in general of the communities in the territories, which are ultimately those who will benefit from the transformations sought by the agreements we have reached. A fundamental purpose of the Table has been to achieve the highest possible participation and to receive the maximum number of proposals related to the discussion of Item 5. The progress in the agreement on Item 5 that we are presenting today has been based precisely on listening to the victims who came directly to the Table and on reading the proposals of thousands of people who have sent them to us through the different participation mechanisms.

In the first place, and for the first time within the framework of a peace process, the Dialogue Table directly listened to and received the proposals of a group of victims of the conflict. The selection process of these victims was carried out by the UN and the National University, accompanied by the Episcopal Conference; guided by the principles of pluralism, balance and fairness, they sought to reflect the entire universe of human rights violations and infringements on IHL that have taken place in the conflict, taking into account the different social sectors and populations, and the territorial approach. The delegations were comprised by 12 victims and the Table heard one delegation per cycle, during cycles 27, 28, 29, 30 and 31 of the dialogues.

Among the victimizing facts represented, testimonies were heard about forced displacement, homicide, tortured, enforced disappearance, kidnapping, sexual violence, extrajudicial executions and forced recruitment of minors, among others. All the victims who visited Havana to state their testimonies, their proposals and their expectations regarding the peace process and the implementation of the agreements before the two delegations at the Dialogue Table, concurred in highlighting the need to bring the conflict to an end.

Furthermore, between July and August, 2014, 3 regional forums were organized (in Villavicencio, Barrancabermeja and Barranquilla), and one National Forum in Cali on Item 5. A total of 3,162 individuals participated, out of which 51.7% were men and 48.3% were women. More than 600 victims’ organizations attended these forums.

Finally, to date we have received 24,324 contributions on the item of victims, with more than 59,000 references to the different aspects of this Item, including over 8,600 regarding the topic of “truth”.

In this new scenario it will be possible to contribute to the construction and preservation of the historical memory and attain a broad understanding of the multiple dimensions of the truth about the conflict, including the historical dimension, in such a way that it may not only satisfy the right to the truth but contribute as well to set the foundations for coexistence, reconciliation, and non-repetition. [...]

[...] Coexistence and reconciliation: In order to contribute to the purposes of non-repetition and reconciliation, the Commission’s activities in the performance of its mandate will be directed to promote coexistence among the Colombian people, particularly in the territories most affected by the conflict and violence. For that purpose, the Commission will seek to ensure that the spaces or audiences it will set up will help in strengthening respect and tolerance, citizen’s trust in others and in the regulations that ensure the enforcement of and the respect for human rights. In this manner, the Commission will also help to lay solid foundations for building peace. [...]

Page 7, Follow-up and monitoring committee on the implementation of the Commission’s recommendations,

A follow-up and monitoring committee on the implementation of the Commission’s recommendations will be created, whose operations will start once the final report has been published. For the fulfillment of its task, dialogues will be facilitated with different victims and human rights’ entities and organizations, among others. The members of this committee will be representatives from different sectors of society, including victims and human rights organizations, among others. The Commission will establish the time period during which the committee will operate. The committee will submit periodic reports on the follow-up of the recommendations. These reports shall feature a territorial, differential and gender approach. The committee will adopt the necessary measures to broadly disseminate its reports in the national and regional media. The Government will guarantee the committee’s funding for the fulfillment of its duties.
