SHARED AGENDA FOR THE TRANSITION TOWARD A NEW COLOMBIA

La Machaca, 6 May 1999

1. Negotiated political solution: a negotiated political solution will be sought to the severe social and armed conflict. The solution will lead to a new Colombia via political, economic and social transformations that will make it possible to reach consensuses to build a new state founded on social justice and to preserve national unity. Peace results will occur in line with the progress of the negotiations. This means a commitment to the construction of peace, which must be accepted by all Colombians, without distinguishing between parties, and economic, social and religious interests.
