Peace agreement between Idourfane and Ibogolitane communities from the regions of Gao and Ménaka in Mali and the region of Tillabéry in Niger

November 2018
Preamble

We, the Idourfane and Ibogolitane communities of the regions of Gao and Menaka in Mali and the Tillabery region of Niger, hereinafter called the Parties;

Recalling that in the past the communities of Kel Tamasheqs and Peulh, whose main activity is livestock farming, coexisted peacefully in the border region between Mali and Niger and used the same pastoral resources;

Recalling that since the 1990s, the conflict that has shaken the border region have weakened social cohesion and reduced the mobility of people - in the past a source of cultural mixing;

Recalling that the availability of natural resources is constantly decreasing, resulting in deadly conflicts over access to these resources;

Recalling that the communities sought the support of armed groups in their confrontations which cost around sixty people their life;

Conscious that violence cannot resolve the conflict between them and that the cycles of attacks and rebuttals must stop;

Aware that the conflict which has taken place between them for more than a year is fueling the security crisis which is shaking the border region between Mali and Niger;

Meeting in Gao as part of the mediation undertaken for a month by the Center for Humanitarian Dialogue to support the stabilization efforts of the Government of Mali and the international community in northern Mali;

Commit to implement, in full and in good faith, the provisions of this Agreement by recognizing our primary responsibility in this regard.
