

Rules of operation of the National Committee on Participation

The Government of the Republic of Colombia and the Ejército de Liberación Nacional (ELN) have established the present rules of operation of the National Committee on Participation, in accordance with paragraph 6.2 of the first Cuba Agreement and paragraph 1 of the Declaration and Agreement No. 11 signed by the delegations on the peace talks panel on 9 June 2023.

1. Nature of the National Committee on Participation

In accordance with Agreement No. 9 (first Cuba Agreement) and its two annexes, hereinafter referred to as the “Participation Agreement”, the National Committee on Participation is a special temporary body convened and coordinated by the peace talks panel to support the design phase of the process of participation of society in peacebuilding. The official spokesperson for the National Committee for Participation shall lead its coordinating body.

2. Functions of the National Committee on Participation for the design of the participation process

(a) Promote and develop spaces for dialogue with a differential approach, in which the various components of society can present their proposals to design the participation process.

(b) Develop methodologies for the workshops, meetings and activities of the participation design phase, bringing together and coordinating with a broad array of experts, organizations, sectors and social movements.

(c) Systematize the various proposals that emerge from the deliberations of the National Committee on Participation and the sectoral and regional and local meetings, and those made by the general public.

(d) On the basis of the design process, draw up and deliver a national participation plan to the peace talks panel.

(e) On the basis of the contributions made by the general public, choose and develop a model for participation and a set of recommendations on the subject to be submitted to the peace talks panel.

(f) Contribute to the formulation of the national agreement.

3. Term of the National Committee on Participation

The National Committee on Participation shall have a term no shorter than the design phase of the participation process, in line with the provisions of the Participation Agreement, representing a term of up to six months from the time of its establishment.

4. Composition of the National Committee on Participation

The National Committee on Participation shall consist of 81 representatives of the 30 social movements, ethnic peoples, organizations, trade associations and institutions listed in annex 1 to the Participation Agreement.

Upon invitation from the peace talks panel, each social movement, ethnic people, organization, trade association and institution shall publicly accept the membership invitation and the criteria set forth in annex 2 to the Participation Agreement, and appoint its representatives.

The peace talks panel shall provide support for the respective selection processes. Furthermore, the National Committee on Participation shall organize gatherings and meetings with various sectors to ensure that proposals for the participation plan and model are heard and received from those sectors that lack a coordinating body to appoint representatives.

The National Committee on Participation shall provide support for the meetings organized for different sectors and national trade associations during the design phase of the participation process. It shall also assign some of its members to attend those events.

Although appointments would have to be permanent, the social movements, ethnic peoples, organizations, trade associations and institutions may independently change their representatives, provided that they notify the peace talks panel accordingly.

5. Role of the peace talks panel in the National Committee on Participation

The peace talks panel plays an essential role as the primary negotiator and decision-maker, in accordance with the principle of bilateralism that underlies the dialogue process. The panel shall be part of the National Committee on Participation; it shall have a leadership role and ensure that the Committee complies with the mandate set out in the Mexico Agreement, performing a coordinating role through the members of each delegation. It shall ensure that as many women as possible participate in that effort. Upon completion of the design phase, the panel shall adopt a model and the national plan for participation.

6. Headquarters

The headquarters of the National Committee on Participation shall be in Bogotá, although the Committee may hold meetings in different locations when its coordinating body so decides.

Its meetings shall be held in-person; however, in exceptional cases, its members may participate virtually by means of any real-time communication platform. In order to make such participation effective, the platforms available and the technical procedures to be followed shall be specified in the meeting invitations.

7. Coordinating body

The peace talks panel shall be the coordinating body of the National Committee on Participation. The panel shall assemble the technical and logistical teams required for the operation of the Committee, in addition to those established under the present rules of operation. The Special Representative of the Secretary-General of the United Nations in Colombia and the Episcopal Conference of Colombia shall assist with the formation of those teams.

The coordinating body shall have the following functions:

(a) Direct the work of the National Committee on Participation and moderate discussions at its meetings.

(b) Request the social movements, ethnic peoples, organizations, trade associations and institutions listed in annex 1 to the first Cuba Agreement to appoint their respective representatives to the Committee.

(c) Convene the meetings of the Committee, through its technical secretariat.

(d) Manage the procurement of national and international resources for the implementation of the design phase of the process for the participation of society in peacebuilding and the Committee's workplans.

(e) Promote the establishment of bodies that encourage society to participate in the peace process.

(f) Act as the official spokesperson for the Committee.

(g) Ensure that safeguards are in place for the security of the persons and entities that make up the Committee, in particular, of the ELN delegates.

(h) Draw up a Committee workplan for the design phase of the process for the participation of society in peacebuilding.

8. Technical secretariat of the National Committee on Participation

The technical secretariat of the National Committee on Participation shall be composed of four persons appointed by the peace talks panel, each delegation having two representatives. The Colombia in Peace Fund shall provide the logistical, administrative and financial support necessary for the proper functioning of the technical secretariat, with assistance from the Office of the High Commissioner for Peace.

The role of the technical secretariat shall be to ensure that the material requirements for the Committee's functioning are met, with the support of the Special Representative of the United Nations Secretary-General in Colombia and the Episcopal Conference of Colombia. In addition, it shall perform the following functions:

(a) Make the logistical arrangements necessary for the meetings of the Committee and for the participation of its members, including those who do not live near the Committee headquarters.

(b) Support the decision-making process of the Committee's coordinating body, and the implementation of its decisions, including by taking responsibility for inter-institutional coordination.

(c) Send Committee meeting invitations, indicating the meeting agenda.

(d) Prepare the minutes of Committee meetings, incorporating the work of rapporteurs and the organizational work done during the various Committee meetings and other meetings in which the Committee participates.

9. Working groups of the National Committee on Participation

The National Committee on Participation shall conduct its work through working groups. Each of its members of the Committee, including those appointed by the delegations on the peace talks panel, in equal numbers, shall be a member of one working group.

The functions of the working groups shall be:

(a) To contribute to the design of the participation process in three thematic areas: the political system, the economic model and the environmental situation.

(b) To convene regional and sectoral meetings at which proposals for the design of the participation process will be made, and maintain dialogue with movements or sectors that contribute to that process.

(c) To help formulate the national participation plan.

10. Meetings of the National Committee on Participation

The National Committee on Participation shall meet upon invitation by the coordinating body, at a date, time and place determined by the latter. The details of meetings shall be communicated to its members in a timely manner.

The Committee may invite national and international members of organizations, institutions, universities, research centres and experts on topics of interest to contribute to its work and discussions.

11. Critical operational support functions

Operational support for the process shall be provided by the Episcopal Conference of Colombia, the Special Representative of the Secretary-General of the United Nations in Colombia and the group of accompanying, support and cooperation countries (GPAAC), as requested by the peace talks panel.

12. Guarantor countries

Subject to their availability, the guarantor countries shall participate in and support the design phase of the process of participation of society in peacebuilding.
